

We promote spiritual development by:

- ☒ Imagining through creative writing, developing curiosity and a sense of wonder as pupils explore ideas, emotions and meaning.
- ☒ Expressing personal thoughts and beliefs through writing, using creativity and communication to reflect on identity and purpose.
- ☒ Reflecting on writing choices and themes, using critical thinking and commitment to consider deeper meanings and the impact of words.

We promote moral development by:

- ☒ Considering moral themes in writing, using curiosity and critical thinking to explore right and wrong, fairness and responsibility.
- ☒ Collaborating in shared writing tasks, communicating respectfully and showing integrity by valuing others' ideas and giving constructive feedback.
- ☒ Choosing language thoughtfully to express values and empathy, demonstrating commitment to kindness, honesty and respectful behaviour.

Personal Development in Writing at Trimley St Mary School

We promote social development by:

- ☒ Collaborating on shared writing projects, developing communication and teamwork through planning, drafting and editing together.
- ☒ Writing for real audiences (e.g., letters, school newsletters, instructions), using curiosity and critical thinking to connect with others' needs.
- ☒ Sharing and celebrating writing through class displays and peer feedback, showing commitment, respect and confidence in each other's work.

We promote cultural development by:

- ☒ Exploring writing styles from different cultures and traditions, developing curiosity and communicating respectfully about diverse voices.
- ☒ Creating stories, poems and non-fiction inspired by global cultures, collaborating creatively and valuing different perspectives.
- ☒ Comparing cultural themes in writing, using critical thinking and commitment to appreciate and celebrate diverse beliefs and experiences.
